

2022-2023 YEAR-END TOOL KIT

2023 Annual Meetings

PROXY STATEMENT – FORM CHECK

December 20, 2022

Proxy Statement Form Check

This document has been prepared to assist with review of a proxy statement on Schedule 14A and the related proxy card filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) by domestic public companies. This document is generally limited to disclosure required for an uncontested solicitation of proxies by a company in connection with its annual meeting of security holders at which security holders will elect directors, ratify the selection of the company's auditor and approve a non-binding "say-on-pay" and/or "say-on-frequency" resolution. Where relevant it assumes a December 31 fiscal year end. Some of the discussions in this document of SEC rules, regulations, forms and other requirements, as well as applicable guidance and interpretations, are summaries. These summaries are not a substitute for review of the actual text of SEC rules, regulations, forms and interpretations or the advice of qualified legal and accounting professionals.

Please note that this document addresses applicable SEC rules and form requirements and selected requirements of the New York Stock Exchange and the Nasdaq Stock Exchange only. This document does not address requirements under Delaware or other state corporate laws, such as notice of meeting, quorum or minimum shareholder voting threshold requirements. Please note also that this document does not address SEC proxy rules that apply to asset backed issuers, registered investment companies and some other issuers, which in some cases differ significantly from those on which these tables are based.

Key changes since the preceding year for companies with a December 31 calendar year-end, as well as selected compliance reminders, are summarized under "Important Updates and Reminders" on the immediately following pages.

Determine dates related to 2024 proxy solicitation:	Advance notice bylaw deadline	The date specified by the company's advance notice bylaw provision or, if the company has not adopted an advance notice bylaw, at least 45 days before the date on which the company first sent its proxy materials for the prior year's annual meeting
	Proxy access bylaw deadline	Varies – review company bylaws
	Rule 14a-19 deadline	60 days prior to anniversary date of previous year's annual meeting
Preliminary proxy statement	At least 10 calendar days before definitive proxy statement is first sent or given to security holders, file as EDGAR form type PRE 14A
Broker search cards	Send request at least 20 business days before record date (Rule 14a-13)
Record date	Review state law and organizational document requirements; notify stock exchange if applicable.
Notice of internet availability (if the company will conduct its proxy solicitation under SEC notice and access rules)	At least 40 days prior to meeting, file separately from definitive proxy statement as EDGAR form type DEFA14A
Definitive proxy statement and form of proxy (card)	On or before the date first sent or given to security holders:
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Post to an internet site (other than the SEC EDGAR website); and • File as EDGAR form type DEF 14A .
	If the Form 10-K report "forward" incorporates Part III disclosure from the definitive proxy statement (director and officer, corporate governance and executive compensation disclosure), the company must file the definitive proxy statement not later than 120 days after the end of the prior fiscal year (May 1, 2023 for companies with a December 31 fiscal year end)
Form 8-K Item 5.07 Current Report	Report results of security holder votes not more than four business days after date of annual meeting
Form 8-K Item 5.07(d) Current Report	Report results of company's decision on say-on-frequency vote, if applicable, not later than 150 calendar days after the date of the end of the annual or other meeting in which the say-on-frequency vote took place, but in no event later than 60 calendar days prior to the deadline for the submission of shareholder proposals under Rule 14a-8 for the subsequent annual meeting, as disclosed in the company's proxy materials for the meeting at which the say-on-frequency vote occurred

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSKey Compliance Checks for 2023 Proxy Statements

Significant new or changed disclosure and procedure changes that will affect 2023 proxy statements include:

- New Pay Versus Performance Table and related disclosure
- New requirements for disclosure of voting standards and options for director elections and the universal proxy nomination deadline; new proxy card requirements
- New electronic filing requirement for “glossy” annual reports to shareholders, including Form 10-K “wraps” that include information required by Rule 14a-3(b) – for example, the stock performance graph required by Rule 14a-3(b)(9) – unless all such information was included in the Form 10-K annual report at the time of filing
- Nasdaq diverse director objective: new compliance and disclosure requirement for 2023 (Nasdaq-listed companies only)
- Nasdaq Board Diversity Matrix disclosure requirements (Nasdaq-listed companies only)

Important reminders of disclosure and compliance requirements that do not occur every year include:

- Say-on-Frequency shareholder approval requirements
- SEC preliminary proxy statement requirements
- SEC staff guidance on virtual annual meetings

The SEC rules on compensation “clawbacks,” including new stock exchange listing standards and company disclosure requirements, that were adopted in November 2022 do not require any new or changed disclosure in 2023 proxy statements.

Each of the requirements listed above are discussed in the immediately following pages.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSNew Pay Versus Performance Table and Related Disclosure

In August 2022, the SEC adopted final rules that will require significant new disclosures in 2023 proxy and information statements about the relationship between executive compensation actually paid by a company and the company's financial performance. Companies with a fiscal year that ends on or after December 16, 2022 will be required to include these new disclosures in their proxy statements for 2023 annual meetings unless the company is exempt from the requirements of the final rules.

The final rules include three new disclosure obligations. First, the final rules require a table that reports, for each of the last five fiscal years, the compensation of the company's principal executive officer (PEO) and the average compensation of the company's other named executive officers (NEOs), both as reported in the Summary Compensation Table in the company's proxy or information statement and as "actually paid," as well as the company's total shareholder return (TSR), the TSR of companies in the company's peer group, the company's net income as reported in its audited financial statements and the financial performance metric identified by the company as the single "most important" financial performance metric used to link compensation actually paid to the company's PEO and other NEOs to the company's performance. Second, the final rules require a description, using the information presented in the table, of the relationships between the compensation actually paid to the PEO and the average compensation actually paid to the company's other NEOs over the company's five most recently completed fiscal years to each of the performance metrics reported in the table. Third, the final rules require a tabular list of at least three, and not more than seven, of the most important financial performance measures used by the company to link compensation actually paid to the company's PEO and other NEOs for the most recently completed fiscal year to company performance. The final rules require companies to comply with SEC Interactive XBRL rules when filing the new pay versus performance disclosures.

The final rules exempt emerging growth companies (EGCs), registered investment companies (RICs) and foreign private issuers (FPIs) from the disclosure requirements. In addition, the final rules contain significant disclosure accommodations for smaller reporting companies (SRCs). The final rules initially require companies that are not SRCs to present these disclosures for the three most recently completed fiscal years, adding an additional fiscal year in each of the two following years. The final rules initially require SRCs to present these disclosures for the two most recently completed fiscal years, adding one additional fiscal year in the following year.

For additional information, refer to the discussion of Item 402(v) of Regulation S-K below, the Goodwin client alert on the final pay versus performance rules, and the Goodwin FAQs on such rules.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERS

New Requirements for Disclosure of Voting Standards and Options for Director Elections and Shareholder Nomination Procedures; New Proxy Card Requirements

In November 2021, the SEC adopted amendments to rules that require new disclosure in proxy statements about voting standards and voting choices in director elections and impose new requirements on proxy cards. These amendments also require new disclosure of the universal proxy nomination deadline. These amendments were first effective for shareholder meetings involving director elections held on or after September 1, 2022. Although many companies voluntarily complied with at least some parts of these amendments in their 2022 proxy statements, all 2023 proxy statements and proxy cards of companies covered by the amendments should be reviewed for compliance. The amendments were discussed in a Goodwin client alert that is available here. A partial summary follows.

Director Election Standards Disclosure and Voting Options. The amendments include new requirements with respect to proxy statement disclosure about voting options and voting standards that apply to all proxy statements that include the election of directors. The amendments impose new disclosure requirements about:

- The voting standard for director elections under the company’s organizational documents and state law, including the number of votes required and whether “withheld,” “against” or “abstain” options are legally applicable to elections of the company’s directors; and
- The effect of abstentions, broker non-votes and, to the extent applicable, withholding authority to vote for a nominee on director elections.

Proxy Card Requirements. The amendments also impose specific requirements and prohibitions with respect to voting options on proxy cards. These include:

- When applicable state law gives legal effect to votes cast against a nominee, the proxy card must provide a means for shareholders to vote against each nominee and a means for shareholders to abstain from voting, rather than providing a means to withhold authority to vote.
- When applicable state law does not give legal effect to votes cast against a nominee, the proxy card must clearly provide one of the four means specified in Rule 14a-4(b) for shareholders to withhold authority to vote for each nominee, and must not provide a means for shareholders to vote against any nominee; and
- Proxy card must clearly distinguish among company nominees, dissident nominees, and any proxy access nominees.

Disclosure of Universal Proxy Deadline. The amendments require companies to disclose in their proxy statements the deadline for shareholders to give timely notice to the company of director nominations pursuant to the new universal proxy rule (Rule 14a-19) for the next annual meeting (new Rule 14a-5(e)(4)). Sample disclosure for this purpose could be as follows, with appropriate revision to reflect any company-specific factors: “In addition, to comply with the universal proxy rules, stockholders who intend to solicit proxies in support of director nominees other than the Company’s nominees must provide notice that sets forth the information required by Rule 14a-19 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 no later than [INSERT DATE THAT IS 60 DAYS PRIOR TO ONE YEAR ANNIVERSARY OF 2023 ANNUAL MEETING].”

Companies Subject to the Amendments. The amendments apply to nearly all companies that file proxy statements with the SEC, with the following exceptions:

- Foreign private issuers are exempt from SEC proxy rules, and are therefore exempt from all of the amendments.
- Registered investment companies and business development companies are subject to the amendments that require disclosure about the effect of “withheld” votes on director elections and the requirements that apply to voting choices on proxy cards, but are not subject to the universal proxy rules.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSNew Electronic Filing Requirement Applies to “Glossy” Annual Reports to Shareholders, including Form 10-K “Wraps”

In June 2022, the SEC adopted amendments that require electronic filing of a variety of documents that SEC rules previously permitted to be filed or submitted in paper form. Among the documents affected by the amendments were “glossy” annual reports to shareholders that must accompany or precede the proxy materials under Rule 14a-3(c). This includes Form 10-K “wraps” that include the information required in connection with the company’s proxy solicitation under Rule 14a-3(b), such as the stock performance graph required by Rule 14a-3(b)(9), unless all such information was contained in the Form 10-K at the time of filing. Effective January 11, 2023, SEC rules will no longer permit companies to satisfy the requirement to submit these annual reports to the SEC staff in paper form, and will require companies to submit annual reports to the SEC electronically. The only current electronic format accepted by the SEC’s EDGAR system is Adobe Acrobat (pdf). Most companies already prepare a copy of the annual report in Acrobat format, but those that do not should confirm that they will be able to do so. On the effective date of the amendments, the staff position that permits a company to satisfy this requirement by posting an electronic copy of the annual report on the company’s website will be withdrawn.

The amended SEC rules apply to annual reports, including “glossy” annual reports and Form 10-K “wraps” that contain information that is used with proxy materials to satisfy the Rule 14a-3(b) requirement that proxy materials must be accompanied or preceded by an annual report to shareholders for solicitations made on behalf of the company that relate to an annual meeting (or special meeting in lieu of an annual meeting, or a written consent in lieu of such a meeting) at which directors are to be elected.

As a result of the amendments, effective January 11, 2023:

- The option to submit a paper copy of the “glossy” annual report or Form 10-K “wrap” to the SEC has been eliminated;
- The requirement to submit an electronic copy of the “glossy” annual report or Form 10-K “wrap” to the SEC in electronic format applies without regard to whether or not a company posts its annual report on its corporate website;
- SEC proxy rules will continue to require companies to publish the annual report on a website other than the SEC’s EDGAR website;
- The only electronic format that the SEC’s EDGAR system currently supports for this submission is Adobe Acrobat (pdf) format; and
- The electronic version of the annual report should not be reformatted, re-sized, or otherwise redesigned for purposes of electronic submission on the SEC’s EDGAR system.

Deadline for Submission of Annual Report to Shareholders: Rule 14a-3(c) requires companies to submit the annual report not later than the later of (1) the date on which the annual report is first sent or given to shareholders or (2) the date on which the company files preliminary proxy materials, or definitive proxy materials if filing of preliminary proxy materials was not required, pursuant to Rule 14a-6.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSSEC Adopts Final Clawback Rules

In October 2022, the SEC adopted rules that require the U.S. national securities exchanges, including the NYSE and Nasdaq, to adopt listing standards that will require companies with securities listed on securities exchanges to adopt and implement policies that provide for the recovery of erroneously awarded incentive-based compensation received by current or former executive officers in the event the company is required to prepare an accounting restatement due to its material noncompliance with any financial reporting requirement under the securities laws, during the three completed fiscal years immediately preceding the date that the issuer is required to prepare an accounting restatement. The final rules require a company with securities listed on a securities exchange to file the policy as an exhibit to its annual report and to include disclosures related to its recovery policy and information about the actions the company has taken pursuant to its policy in the event that the policy is triggered by a restatement.

The exchange listing standards and SEC disclosure rules will apply to nearly all companies that have securities listed on a securities exchange, including EGCs, SRCs and FPIs, with limited exceptions.

Because the clawback rules provide a period of up to 12 months after the effective date of the rules for the securities exchanges to propose, obtain SEC approval, and adopt final listing standards that comply with the final rules, the clawback rules will not require action by listed companies with December 31 fiscal years for the spring 2023 proxy season, but may require listed companies prior to the 2024 proxy season to (1) adopt clawback policies under the final exchange listing standards and (2) comply with the SEC disclosure and exhibit filing rules that apply to listed companies.

For additional information, refer to the discussion of Item 402(w) below and the Goodwin client alert on the clawback rules.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERS

Reminder: Say-on-Pay, Say-on-Frequency and Say-on-Golden Parachute Pay Requirements (Rule 14a-21)

Although most companies hold say-on-pay votes each year, SEC rules require companies to submit a say-on-frequency vote to shareholders only every six years. Companies should ensure that their disclosure controls and procedures include a note or reminder for this requirement and the related Form 8-K reporting requirement that is separate from and in addition to the requirement to report the results of director elections and shareholder voting at the meeting.

Say-on-Pay rules require a non-binding advisory vote on executive compensation at least once every third year. Say-on-pay votes must be held at least every three years, but most companies hold a say-on-pay vote every year. The SEC release adopting the final rules is available on the SEC website.

The Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act (JOBS Act) designated certain companies as EGCs, and exempted EGCs from the Dodd–Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act (Dodd Frank Act) say-on-pay, say-on-pay frequency, and say-on-golden-parachute vote requirements while these companies remain EGCs. Companies that lose their qualification as an EGC should be aware that a say-on-frequency vote is required at the first annual meeting that takes place after the company ceases to be an EGC.

Say-on-Frequency rules generally require companies to submit to security holders at least every six calendar years a non-binding vote on how frequently the company will submit a “say-on-pay” vote to its security holders. Rule 14a-21\(b\), became effective for annual or other meetings of security holders at which directors are elected and for which the SEC rules require executive compensation disclosures in accordance with Item 402 of Regulation S-K occurring on or after January 21, 2011. Most U.S. public companies need to include a vote on the frequency of their say-on-pay votes in their proxy statements for their annual meetings six years after their initial or most recent say-on-frequency vote. Newly-public companies that aren’t EGCs are required to solicit a say-on-frequency vote, as well as a say-on-pay vote, at the first annual meeting after their IPO.

Companies that submit a say-on-frequency vote to security holders should review the disclosure requirements of Item 24 of Schedule 14A, which applies to the say-on-frequency vote as well as the say-on-pay vote. Among other things, Item 24 requires companies to explain briefly the general effect of each vote, including whether the vote is non-binding, the current frequency of the say-on-pay votes, and when the next say-on-pay vote will occur. Rule 14a-4(b)(5) provides that companies should offer security holders four voting alternatives: whether the vote on executive compensation should occur every one, two or three years, and abstain.

Companies should also ensure that their disclosure controls and procedures include the Form 8-K disclosure requirements triggered by a say-on-frequency vote. Item 5.07(d) of Form 8-K requires companies to disclose the company’s decision as to how frequently it will conduct the say-on-pay vote. This is separate from the Item 5.07 requirement to disclose the results of director elections and shareholder votes at an annual meeting. The Item 5.07(d) report on the company’s decision on the frequency of say-on-pay shareholder votes in light of the shareholder say-on-frequency vote is due not later than 150 calendar days after the date of the end of the annual or other meeting in which the say-on-frequency vote took place, but in no event later than 60 calendar days prior to the deadline for the submission of shareholder proposals under Rule 14a-8 for the subsequent annual meeting, as disclosed in the company’s proxy materials for the meeting at which the say-on-frequency vote occurred. As a practical matter, this should, if possible, be included in the Form 8-K report that discloses the results of director elections and shareholder votes. Failure to file either of these reports within the required period will result in loss of Form S-3 eligibility for the company, among other consequences.

Say-on-Golden Parachute Pay rules, which are not summarized in this document, apply to certain transactional filings in connection with stockholder votes relating to an acquisition, merger, consolidation or proposed sale or disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of a company, but do not apply to routine annual meetings of stockholders.

Nasdaq Diverse Director Objective: New 2023 Compliance and Disclosure Requirement for Some Nasdaq-Listed Companies

The Nasdaq “Have or Explain” Diverse Director Requirement. Nasdaq Rule 5605(f) requires listed companies to have at least two board members who self-identify as diverse, as defined by Nasdaq rules, or to explain why the company has not met this diversity objective. For calendar year 2023, Nasdaq rules require companies that were listed before August 6, 2021 to have one director who self-identifies as female or as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community, or to explain why the company does not. Nasdaq rules do not require that directors be independent in order to satisfy the director diversity objective. Companies that have not met the minimum diversity objectives within the required timeframes will not be subject to delisting if they provide public disclosure that complies with Nasdaq rules to explain why the company did not meet the applicable minimum diversity objectives.

Nasdaq Global Select Market and Nasdaq Global Market

- Companies listed on the Nasdaq Global Select Market or Global Market before August 6, 2021 must (1) by August 7, 2023 have, or explain why they do not have, one diverse director and (2) by August 6, 2025 have, or explain why they do not have, one director who self-identifies as female and a second director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.
- Companies listed on or after August 6, 2021 but before August 6, 2025 must satisfy the requirement that they have one diverse director by the later of August 7, 2023 or one year from the date of listing and two diverse directors by the later of August 6, 2025 or two years from the date of listing.
- Companies listed on or after August 6, 2025 must meet, or explain why they do not meet, the applicable diversity objectives by the later of two years from the date of listing or the date the company files its proxy statement or its information statement for the company’s second annual meeting of shareholders after the company’s listing.

Nasdaq Capital Market

- Companies listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market before August 6, 2021 must (1) by August 7, 2023 have, or explain why they do not have, one diverse director and (2) by August 6, 2026 have, or explain why they do not have, two diverse directors.
- Companies listed on or after August 6, 2021 but before August 7, 2026 will have until the later of August 6, 2026 or two years from the company’s listing date to have, or explain why they do not have, one director who self-identifies as female and one director who self identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.
- Companies listed on or after August 6, 2026 must meet, or explain why they do not meet, the applicable diversity objectives by the later of two years from the date of listing or the date the company files its proxy statement or its information statement for the company’s second annual meeting of shareholders after the company’s listing.

Companies with five or fewer board members, regardless of Nasdaq listing tier, can satisfy the diversity objective by having one diverse director, rather than two. This director can self-identify as (1) female and/or (2) a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community. The compliance dates for these companies are:

- Companies with five or fewer board members listed before August 6, 2021 must by August 7, 2023 have, or explain why they do not have, one director who self-identifies as female and/or as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.
- Companies with five or fewer board members listed on or after August 6, 2021 but before August 6, 2025 (if listed on the Nasdaq Global Select or Global Market) or August 7, 2026 (if listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market) will have until the later of August 6, 2025 or August 6, 2026, respectively, or two years from the company’s listing date to have, or explain why they do not have, one director who self-identifies as female and/or as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.
- Companies with five or fewer board members listed on or after August 6, 2025 (if listed on the Nasdaq Global Select or Global Market) or August 7, 2026 (if listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market) will have until the later of two years from the date of listing or the date the company files its proxy or information statement for the company’s second annual meeting of shareholders after the company's listing, to have, or explain why they do not have, one director who self-identifies as female and/or as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.

Proxy Statements Filed after August Anniversary Date. If a company files its 2023 proxy or information statement (or its Form 10-K or Form 20-F annual report, if the company does not file a proxy or information statement) on or after August 7, 2023, the company must have one diverse director, or explain its reasons for not doing so, by the time it files its 2023 proxy or information statement. Companies can provide this disclosure in the company's proxy or information statement or on the company's website, which website disclosure is required within one business day of filing its proxy or information statement. If a company chooses to make this disclosure on its website, it must do so within one business day after filing its proxy or information statement and must submit a URL link to the disclosure through the Nasdaq Listing Center by completing Section 10 (Board Diversity Disclosure) of the Nasdaq Company Event Form, within one business day after the web posting. In future years, a company that files its proxy statement after the anniversary of the effective date of the Nasdaq diversity rules (August 6, 2021) must explain why it meets, or does not meet, the relevant diversity objective at the time of its proxy filing (or, if the company does not file a proxy statement, in its Form 10-K or 20-F annual report).

Smaller Reporting Companies can satisfy the director diversity objective by having, or explaining why they do not have, within the time periods applicable to the company's initial listing date and Nasdaq listing tier, either (1) two directors who self-identify as female or (2) one director who self-identifies as female and another director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community.

Foreign issuers, as defined by Nasdaq rules (which includes companies that are Foreign Private Issuers under SEC rules), can meet the director diversity objective by having, or explaining why they do not have, within the time periods applicable to the company's initial listing date and Nasdaq listing tier, either (1) two directors who self-identify as female or (2) one director who self-identifies as female and one director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented individual based on national, racial, ethnic, indigenous, cultural, religious or linguistic identity in the country where the company's principal executive offices are located, or as a member of the LGBTQ+ community.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERS

Nasdaq Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure: New Disclosure Requirements for Some Nasdaq-Listed Companies

2023 Changes in Nasdaq Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure Requirements. In 2022, companies that were listed on Nasdaq before August 6, 2021 were first required to disclose the gender and demographic diversity of their directors for the current year using the Board Diversity Matrix specified by Nasdaq Rule 5606. Both Rule 5606, which requires disclosure of the Board Diversity Matrix, and Rule 5605(f), which requires companies to have or explain why they do not have the number of diverse directors required by Nasdaq rules, incorporate transitional or phased-in compliance provisions. For 2023, Nasdaq-listed companies should note two changes in Board Diversity Matrix disclosure requirements:

- Two Years of Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure. Companies listed before August 6, 2021, which first disclosed the Board Diversity Matrix in 2022, are required to include two years of board diversity information – for the current and preceding calendar year – when they disclose the Board Diversity Matrix in 2023 unless the information for the preceding year is publicly available, as discussed below.
- Companies Listed on or After August 6, 2021. Companies listed on or after August 6, 2021 must, within one year from the date of listing, make their initial disclosure of one year of board diversity information using the Board Diversity Matrix. After the first anniversary of the listing date, these companies must disclose two years of board diversity information using the Board Diversity Matrix.

The compliance dates for 2023 are discussed below.

The requirement to disclose the Board Diversity Matrix for the preceding year is satisfied if the Board Diversity Matrix for the preceding year is publicly available. As an example, the Board Diversity Matrix would be publicly available if the company's proxy or information statement for the preceding year included the Board Diversity Matrix and was filed with the SEC and is available on the SEC's EDGAR system. As another example, the Board Diversity Matrix would be publicly available if it was posted and is still available on the company's website.

2023 Compliance Dates. For 2023, Nasdaq has stated that, after a company has made its initial disclosure of the Board Diversity Matrix, the filing deadline in subsequent years is the later of (i) the anniversary in that year of the August 6, 2021 effective date of the Nasdaq diversity rules or (ii) the date the company files its proxy or information statement for the Company's annual shareholder meeting during that year (or, if the Company does not file a proxy or information statement, the date it files its Form 10-K or Form 20-F report). Based on Nasdaq guidance concerning the deadlines for disclosure of the Board Diversity Matrix, the following deadlines should apply in 2023 for companies that were Nasdaq-listed before August 6, 2021 and disclosed the Board Diversity Matrix during 2022 as required by Nasdaq rules:

- if the company files its 2023 proxy statement before August 7, 2023 and does not include the Board Diversity Matrix, the company has until August 7, 2023 to provide the Board Diversity Matrix;
- if the company files its 2023 proxy statement on or after August 7, 2023, the company must either include the Board Diversity Matrix in its proxy statement or post the Board Diversity Matrix on its website within one business day of filing its proxy statement; and
- if the company did not intend to file a proxy or information statement in 2023, the company has until August 7, 2023 to provide the Board Diversity Matrix on its website.

Companies listed on or after August 6, 2021 but before the end of the transition period applicable to the company's listing tier have until the date that is one year from the date of listing (rather than August 7, 2023) to disclose their Board Diversity Matrix.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSReminder: SEC Preliminary Proxy Statement Requirements

An important element of planning a proxy solicitation and complying with SEC proxy rules is determining whether the company must file preliminary proxy materials. Rule 14a-6 does not require a company to file preliminary proxy materials if the proxy solicitation relates to a shareholder meeting at which the only matters to be acted upon are:

- (1) The election of directors;
- (2) The election, approval or ratification of accountant(s);
- (3) A security holder proposal included pursuant to Rule 14a-8;
- (4) A shareholder nominee for director included pursuant to Rule 14a-11, an applicable state or foreign law provision, or a company's governing documents as they relate to the inclusion of shareholder director nominees in the company's proxy materials.
- (5) The approval or ratification of a plan as defined in Item 402 (a)(6)(ii) of Regulation S-K or amendments to such a plan;
- (6) A vote to approve the compensation of executives as required pursuant to section 14A(a)(1) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 14a-21(a), or pursuant to section 111(e)(1) of the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008 and Rule 14a-20, a vote to determine the frequency of shareholder votes to approve the compensation of executives as required pursuant to Section 14A(a)(2) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and Rule 14a-21(b), or any other shareholder advisory vote on executive compensation.

The exclusions from the requirement to file preliminary proxy materials do not apply if the company comments upon or refers to a solicitation in opposition in connection with the meeting in its proxy materials. The exclusions also do not apply to special meetings, except for special meetings that are held in lieu of annual meetings.

Reminder: SEC Staff Guidance on Virtual Annual Meetings

In January 2022, the staff of the SEC Division of Corporation Finance reaffirmed its SEC Staff Guidance Concerning Conduct of Virtual Annual Meetings, which was originally issued on March 13, 2020 and updated on April 7, 2020 and April 9, 2021. The guidance is reproduced below. For 2023 meetings, the guidance under “Companies That Have Not Yet Filed and Sent Proxy Materials,” “Presentation of Shareholder Proposals” and “Other Virtual Meeting Reminders” should remain applicable unless the staff provides further guidance.

Change of Date, Time or Location of Annual Meeting

COVID-19 impacts, such as restrictions on travel or gatherings of groups, may result in a company changing the date, time or location of its annual meeting. The guidance describes how the Staff will view the company’s obligations under federal proxy rules when it makes these changes.

Companies That Have Already Filed and Sent Proxy Materials. If a company has already filed and sent its definitive proxy materials, the guidance indicates that the Staff will take the position that the company can notify its shareholders and others of a change in the date, time or location of the annual meeting without mailing additional soliciting materials or amending its previously-filed proxy materials if the company:

- Issues a press release announcing the change;
- Files the announcement as definitive additional soliciting material on the SEC’s EDGAR system; and
- Takes “all reasonable steps necessary to inform” other intermediaries in the proxy process, such as any proxy service provider, and any other relevant market participant (for example, the relevant national stock exchange) of the change.

Companies That Have Not Yet Filed and Sent Proxy Materials. If a company is in the process of preparing its proxy statement and has decided to hold an in-person meeting but wants to preserve its ability to switch to a virtual meeting, it should include disclosure in its proxy statement about the possibility that it may need to change the date, time or location of its annual meeting due to COVID-19 concerns.

Presentation of Shareholder Proposals

Rule 14a-8(h) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 (Exchange Act) requires shareholder proponents, or their representatives, to appear and present their proposals at the annual meeting. In light of the possible difficulties for shareholder proponents to attend annual meetings in person to present their proposals, the staff encourages issuers, to the extent feasible under state law, to provide shareholder proponents or their representatives with the ability to present their proposals through alternative means, such as by phone.

Furthermore, to the extent a shareholder proponent or representative is not able to attend the annual meeting and present the proposal due to the inability to travel or other hardships related to COVID-19, the staff would consider this to be “good cause” under Rule 14a-8(h) should issuers assert Rule 14a-8(h)(3) as a basis to exclude a proposal submitted by the shareholder proponent for any meetings held in the following two calendar years.

Other Virtual Meeting Reminders

The proxy statement should clearly explain how stockholders will be able to access the meeting. Companies should ensure that the virtual meeting service provider has provided and/or reviewed the language, including any hyperlinks, passwords or meeting identification numbers, to ensure all information provided is complete and accurate. It is also worth noting that Glass Lewis, and to a lesser extent ISS, have published expectations about how such meetings should operate to ensure shareholders can meaningfully communicate with management and directors and the disclosure they expect if a company elects to conduct an annual meeting using virtual technology.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSESG Metrics

Companies are increasingly including discussion of their environmental, social and governance (ESG) policies and practices in their proxy statements. These disclosures are often being made due to increased demand from institutional investors and other stakeholders for such disclosures rather than pursuant to SEC disclosure requirements.

The SEC has adopted relatively general disclosure requirements for ESG matters related to human capital, board diversity policies, and environmental regulations, and the staff of the Division of Corporation Finance has provided some guidance on these disclosures, but otherwise ESG disclosures in SEC filings are typically made voluntarily, according to general principles of materiality, or pursuant to existing disclosure requirements that do not directly reference ESG matters.

ESG disclosures, regardless of whether or not they are made in an SEC filing, create potential liability for false and misleading statements under Section 10(b) and Rule 10b-5 of the Exchange Act. In addition, ESG disclosures in SEC filings that are made or incorporated by reference – for example, from a company's Form 10-K annual report or proxy statement – into an SEC registration statement create potential liability under Section 11 of the Securities Act of 1933 (Securities Act), which imposes strict liability for false and misleading statements, as well as Section 12 of the Securities Act. ESG disclosures in proxy statements also create potential liability under Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act and Rule 14a-9 thereunder, which requires a showing of negligence for false and misleading statements. The potential for liability under the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and related SEC rules makes it crucial that companies have robust disclosure controls and procedures in place for reviewing ESG disclosures, especially those contained in SEC filings.

Companies are increasingly including ESG factors in their executive compensation programs to incentivize the achievement of ESG goals and manage ESG risks. In particular, companies are adding ESG metrics, such as those relating to the number of underrepresented employees in management and executive groupings, into their annual incentive plans and to a lesser extent into their long-term incentive plans. Since pay will be tied to these ESG factors, it is essential that standalone ESG metrics used for executive compensation be measurable, controllable, and disclosable.

IMPORTANT UPDATES AND REMINDERSReminder: Hedging Policy Disclosure

The SEC adopted rules in December 2018 that require hedging disclosure in proxy and consent solicitation materials with respect to the election of directors, without regard to whether the materials relate to an annual or special meeting of shareholders or action to be taken by written consent, during fiscal years that begin on or after July 1, 2019 (July 1, 2020 for EGCs and SRCs).

The rules require a company to describe any practices or policies that the company has adopted regarding the ability of the company's employees (including officers) or directors, or any of their designees, to purchase financial instruments (including prepaid variable forward contracts, equity swaps, collars, and exchange funds), or otherwise engage in transactions, that hedge or offset, or are designed to hedge or offset, any decrease in the market value of the company's equity securities (a) granted to the employee or director by the company as part of the compensation of the employee or director; or (b) held, directly or indirectly, by the employee or director. If the company does not have any practices or policies regarding hedging, the company must disclose that fact or state that the transactions described above are generally permitted.

The adopting release clarifies that the final rules apply to all company policies and practices, without regard to whether they are in written form or not. A company can satisfy the disclosure requirement by either providing a fair and accurate summary of the applicable practices or policies, including the categories of persons they cover and any categories of transactions that are specifically permitted and/or specifically disallowed. Alternatively, companies can satisfy this requirement by disclosing their practices or policies in full. The final rules do not require any specific location in the proxy statement for the disclosure.

Schedule 14A Form Check

The table below reflects primarily disclosure required in proxy statements and proxy cards under SEC Schedule 14A and Regulation S-K for an annual meeting at which security holders will act on typical matters, such as election of directors, ratification of auditor selection and approval of a say-on-pay resolution. Additional disclosure requirements may apply if the company will submit additional matters, such as approval of an equity compensation plan, a charter amendment, corporate governance policies or a business combination/disposition transaction, to security holders. In some cases, SEC rules will require the company to file a preliminary proxy statement that is subject to potential review by the SEC staff, who may have comments that result in disclosure changes before the company files the definitive proxy statement and begins its proxy solicitation.

Reviewers should consult the full text of Schedule 14A as well as the sections of Regulation S-K and the SEC proxy rules cited and applicable guidance published by the staff of the Division of Corporation Finance when preparing and/or reviewing a company's proxy statement and proxy card.

Note concerning periods covered:

General Instruction C to SEC Schedule 14A includes the following instructions:

- Except as otherwise specifically provided, where any item calls for information for a specified period with regard to directors, executive officers, officers or other persons holding specified positions or relationships, the information shall be given with regard to any person who held any of the specified positions or relationship at any time during the period.
- Information, other than information required by Item 404 of Regulation S-K, need not be included for any portion of the period during which such person did not hold any such position or relationship, provided that a statement to that effect is made in the proxy statement.

NYSE/Nasdaq Requirements for Web Posting

Note that under certain circumstances, stock exchange requirements that listed companies disclose certain information in their proxy statement (or annual report, if the company did not file a proxy statement) may be satisfied by posting the information on the company's website. If a listed company chooses to make these disclosures solely on or through its website, it must so state in its proxy statement (or annual report, if it does not file a proxy statement) and provide the website address. Accordingly, review of a listed company's proxy statement should be coordinated with review of materials posted on its website to ensure compliance with applicable stock exchange listing standards.

Supplemental and Revised or Amended Proxy Materials If the company uses additional solicitation materials or needs to revise or amend the proxy materials, the company should evaluate SEC filing requirements, updating of proxy voting platforms, how (or if) these materials will be distributed to security holders, and web posting issues. In many cases, these decisions will turn on the materiality of the new or updated information, but companies must review SEC and stock exchange requirements as well. Supplemental materials typically include a press release, a letter to security holders, a script used by company employees who contact security holders by telephone, or a slide deck. Supplemental materials should be filed as “Definitive Additional Materials” by checking that box on the cover page of Schedule 14A and using EDGAR form type “DEFA14A” when filing electronically. Supplemental materials are often not mailed to security holders. If mailed, there will usually be no requirement to mail to all holders. Revised or amended materials usually involve material changes to the proxy materials. These can include anything from an arguably immaterial but important correction to a director’s biography to a material restructuring of a proposal after discussions with a proxy advisor or institutional security holder. These materials may be a single page that identifies and corrects a statement in the proxy statement or may be a complete restatement of the proxy statement. Revised and amended materials should be filed as “Definitive Additional Materials” by checking the box on the cover page of Schedule 14A and using EDGAR form type “DEFR14A” when filing electronically. If the matter to be amended or revised required the company to file preliminary proxy materials with the SEC, the company may need to restart the 10 business day review period before filing the revised definitive proxy materials and/or distributing a revised proxy card. Revised proxy cards must include the complete contents of the original proxy card, as corrected or amended. SEC rules do not permit a company to distribute a “supplemental” proxy card for less than all of the matters that security holders will act on at the annual meeting.

Item 7. Directors and Executive Officers [Nasdaq Board Diversity Matrix]	Nasdaq Rule 5606	Nasdaq Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure Nasdaq rules require listed companies to disclose information about the gender and demographic diversity of the company's directors. The Board Diversity Matrix rule does not provide any exceptions or modifications for SRCs or EGCs. Foreign Issuers, including FPIs, are subject to modified requirements that address privacy requirements in non-U.S. jurisdictions. The Board Diversity Matrix must be titled "Board Diversity Matrix" and must include in its title the date as of which the information is reported as the "As of Date" (that is, the date on which the company files its proxy materials or the date it posts the Board Diversity Matrix on its website). The rule requires that companies disclose this information in the format specified by the Nasdaq rule, without substantially modifying the matrix. The Nasdaq guidance adjacent to this cell provides instructions as well as guidance concerning permissible modifications. Nasdaq encourages companies to provide the information in the matrix in a text-searchable format. If the company uses an image or graphical format to present the Board Diversity Matrix, the company is encouraged to include the information in a text or tabular format that is text-searchable. Note that Nasdaq rules do not prescribe any specific location for this disclosure. Determine whether the company is required to disclose the Board Diversity Matrix. If so, determine the number of years required and the compliance deadline. Determine whether the company intends to disclose the Board Diversity Matrix in its proxy statement. If not, confirm that the company will otherwise disclose the Board Diversity Matrix in acceptable form before the applicable compliance deadline. If the Board Diversity Matrix appears in the proxy statement, confirm that the Board Diversity Matrix and any related disclosure is presented in the form required by Nasdaq Rule 5606.	SEC Approves Nasdaq Board Diversity Rules (Goodwin alert) Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure and Examples (updated August 3, 2022) Board Diversity Matrix Instructions (updated February 18, 2022) Nasdaq's Board Diversity Rule: What Nasdaq-Listed Companies Should Know (updated February 18, 2022) Nasdaq's Board Diversity Rule: What New Companies Listing On Nasdaq Should Know (updated February 18, 2022)		Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

[Nasdaq Board Diversity Objective]	Nasdaq Rule 5605(f)	New Disclosure Required in 2023 Proxy Statements Nasdaq Board Diversity Objective Disclosure For calendar year 2023, Nasdaq rules require listed companies to have one director who self-identifies as female or as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community, or to explain why the company does not. Companies listed on the Nasdaq Global Select Market or Global Market must have one director who self-identifies as female and a second director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community or explain why they do not by the later of August 6, 2025 or two years from the company’s listing date. Companies listed on the Nasdaq Capital Market have until the later of August 6, 2026 or two years from the company’s listing date to meet the diversity objective or explain why they have not. Nasdaq rules do not require that directors be independent in order to satisfy the director diversity objective. Companies with five or fewer board members can satisfy the diversity objective by having one diverse director, rather than two. This director can be (1) one director who self-identifies as female or (2) one director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority listed in the Board Diversity Matrix or the LGBTQ+ community. Smaller Reporting Companies can satisfy the diversity objective by having (1) two directors who self-identify as female or (2) one director who self-identifies as female and another director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented minority or the LGBTQ+ community. Foreign Issuers, as defined by Nasdaq rules, can meet the diversity objective by having (1) two directors who self-identify as female or (2) one director who self-identifies as female and one director who self-identifies as a member of an underrepresented individual based on national, racial, ethnic, indigenous, cultural, religious or linguistic identity in the country where the company’s principal executive offices are located, or as a member of the LGBTQ+ community. Companies that have not met the minimum diversity objectives within the required timeframes will not be subject to delisting if they provide public disclosure that complies with Nasdaq rules to explain why the company did not meet the applicable minimum diversity objectives. For additional summary information, see “Nasdaq Board Diversity Objective Disclosure Rule” above under “Important Updates and Reminders.”	SEC Approves Nasdaq Board Diversity Rules (Goodwin alert) Board Diversity Matrix Disclosure and Examples (updated August 3, 2022) Board Diversity Matrix Instructions (updated February 18, 2022) Nasdaq’s Board Diversity Rule: What Nasdaq-Listed Companies Should Know (updated February 18, 2022) Nasdaq’s Board Diversity Rule: What New Companies Listing On Nasdaq Should Know (updated February 18, 2022)		Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

		Section 108. Compensation Discussion and Analysis/Proxy Statement Question 108.01 Question: Instruction 5 to Item 402(b) provides that “[d]isclosure of target levels that are non-GAAP financial measures will not be subject to Regulation G and Item 10(e); however, disclosure must be provided as to how the number is calculated from the registrant’s audited financial statements.” Does this instruction extend to non-GAAP financial information that does not relate to the disclosure of target levels, but is nevertheless included in Compensation Discussion & Analysis (“CD&A”) or other parts of the proxy statement - for example, to explain the relationship between pay and performance? Answer: No. Instruction 5 to Item 402(b) is limited to CD&A disclosure of target levels that are non-GAAP financial measures. If non-GAAP financial measures are presented in CD&A or in any other part of the proxy statement for any other purpose, such as to explain the relationship between pay and performance or to justify certain levels or amounts of pay, then those non-GAAP financial measures are subject to the requirements of Regulation G and Item 10(e) of Regulation S-K. In these pay-related circumstances only, the staff will not object if a registrant includes the required GAAP reconciliation and other information in an annex to the proxy statement, provided the registrant includes a prominent cross-reference to such annex. Or, if the non-GAAP financial measures are the same as those included in the Form 10-K that is incorporating by reference the proxy statement’s Item 402 disclosure as part of its Part III information, the staff will not object if the registrant complies with Regulation G and Item 10(e) by providing a prominent cross-reference to the pages in the Form 10-K containing the required GAAP reconciliation and other information. 	Item 402(a)(2)	All compensation covered. Item 402 requires clear, concise and understandable disclosure of all plan and non-plan compensation awarded to, earned by, or paid to the named executive officers designated under paragraph (a)(3) of this Item, and directors covered by paragraph (k) of this Item, by any person for all services rendered in all capacities to the company and its subsidiaries, unless otherwise specifically excluded from disclosure in this Item. All such compensation shall be reported pursuant to this Item, even if also called for by another requirement, including transactions between the company and a third party where a purpose of the transaction is to furnish compensation to any such named executive officer or director. No amount reported as compensation for one fiscal year need be reported in the same manner as compensation for a subsequent fiscal year; amounts reported as compensation for one fiscal year may be required to be reported in a different manner pursuant to this Item.			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

	Item 402(a)(3)	Persons covered. Disclosure shall be provided pursuant to this Item for each of the following (the “named executive officers”): (i) All individuals serving as the company’s principal executive officer or acting in a similar capacity during the last completed fiscal year (“PEO”), regardless of compensation level; (ii) All individuals serving as the company’s principal financial officer or acting in a similar capacity during the last completed fiscal year (“PFO”), regardless of compensation level; (iii) The company’s three most highly compensated executive officers other than the PEO and PFO who were serving as executive officers at the end of the last completed fiscal year; and (iv) Up to two additional individuals for whom disclosure would have been provided pursuant to paragraph (a)(3)(iii) of this Item but for the fact that the individual was not serving as an executive officer of the company at the end of the last completed fiscal year. Instructions to Item 402(a)(3). 1. Determination of most highly compensated executive officers. The determination as to which executive officers are most highly compensated shall be made by reference to total compensation for the last completed fiscal year (as required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c)(2)(x) of this Item) reduced by the amount required to be disclosed pursuant to paragraph (c)(2)(viii) of this Item, provided, however, that no disclosure need be provided for any executive officer, other than the PEO and PFO, whose total compensation, as so reduced, does not exceed $100,000. 2. Inclusion of executive officer of subsidiary. It may be appropriate for a company to include as named executive officers one or more executive officers or other employees of subsidiaries in the disclosure required by this Item. See Rule 3b-7 under the Exchange Act. 3. Exclusion of executive officer due to overseas compensation. It may be appropriate in limited circumstances for a company not to include in the disclosure required by this Item an individual, other than its PEO or PFO, who is one of the company’s most highly compensated executive officers due to the payment of amounts of cash compensation relating to overseas assignments attributed predominantly to such assignments.			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

[Recovery of Incentive Compensation Erroneously Paid – a/k/a “Clawbacks”]	Item 402(w)	In October 2022, the SEC adopted rules that require the U.S. national securities exchanges, including the NYSE and Nasdaq, to adopt listing standards that will require companies with listed securities to adopt and implement “clawback” policies that provide for the recovery of incentive-based compensation received by current or former executive officers based on any financial measure if the company is required to prepare an accounting restatement. Clawback policies must provide for recovery of the amount of pre-tax incentive-based compensation received during the three-year period preceding the date the company is required to prepare the accounting restatement that exceeds the amount that would have been received based on the restated financial reporting measure, subject to very limited exceptions for instances in which recovery would be impracticable. Separately from the requirements imposed by the stock exchange listing standards, the rules will require companies to provide disclosure about their clawback policies and the implementation of these policies, including any amounts of erroneously awarded incentive compensation attributable to a restatement and amounts of erroneously awarded incentive compensation that remain outstanding. The rules will also require companies to file their policies as exhibits to their annual report and to tag any compensation recovery disclosure using Inline XBRL. The final rules will apply to nearly all operating companies that have securities listed on a securities exchange, with limited exceptions. Securities exchanges are required to propose listing standards within 90 days of publication of the final rules in the Federal Register, and such listing standards must be effective no later than one year after the publication of the listing standards in the Federal Register. Companies subject to these listing standards must adopt a recovery policy no later than 60 days after exchange listing standards are effective. Companies would not be required to comply with the new disclosure requirements in Item 402 in Regulation S-K until after they are required to have a policy under the applicable exchange listing standard.	Listing Standards for Recovery of Erroneously Awarded Compensation SEC Adopts Final Rules Requiring Disclosure and Recovery of Erroneously Awarded Incentive-Based Compensation (Goodwin alert)

	Rule 14a-4	Amendments to Rule 14a-4 adopted in November 2021 impose specific requirements and prohibitions with respect to voting options on proxy cards. These include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • When applicable state law gives legal effect to votes cast against a nominee, the proxy card must provide a means for shareholders to vote against each nominee and a means for shareholders to abstain from voting, rather than providing a means to withhold authority to vote. • When applicable state law does not give legal effect to votes cast against a nominee, the proxy card must clearly provide one of the four means specified in Rule 14a-4(b) for shareholders to withhold authority to vote for each nominee, and must not provide a means for shareholders to vote against any nominee; and • Proxy card must clearly distinguish among company nominees, dissident nominees, and any proxy access nominees.

		Subject to changes that may be required by a company’s charter or bylaws or specific state law requirements, the voting choices in the proxy card will typically be as follows: For the election of directors, if plurality voting applies, the voting options should be for and withhold. The proxy card may also provide that a shareholder may vote “for all”, “withhold all”, or “for all except.” For the election of directors, if majority voting applies, the voting options should be for, against, and abstain. The proxy card may also include that a shareholder may vote “for all”, “against all”, or “for all except.” For auditor ratification and say-on-pay, the voting options should be for, against, and abstain. For say-on-frequency, the voting options should be one year, two years, three years, and abstain. Confirm that the voting choices on the proxy card comply with Rule 14a-4, the company’s charter and bylaws and applicable state law.			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

	Rule 14a-4(a)(3)	Rule 14a-4(a)(3): Clear and Impartial Identification of Each Separate Shareholder Proposal to be Voted Upon Rule 14a-4(a)(3) requires that the form of proxy “identify clearly and impartially each separate matter intended to be acted upon.” SEC staff guidance published on March 22, 2016 addressed how specifically a company must describe a Rule 14a-8 shareholder proposal on its proxy card as follows: The proxy card should clearly identify and describe the specific action on which shareholders will be asked to vote. This same principle applies to both management and shareholder proposals. For example, it would not be appropriate to describe a management proposal to amend a company’s articles of incorporation to increase the number of authorized shares of common stock as “a proposal to amend our articles of incorporation.” Similarly, it would not be appropriate to describe a shareholder proposal to amend a company’s bylaws to allow shareholders holding 10% of the company’s common stock to call a special meeting as “a shareholder proposal on special meetings.” The following descriptions of shareholder proposals also would not satisfy Rule 14a-4(a)(3): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • A shareholder proposal on executive compensation; • A shareholder proposal on the environment; • A shareholder proposal, if properly presented; and • Shareholder proposal #3. 	Exchange Act Rule 14a-4(a)(3), Questions and Answers of General Applicability Updated March 22, 2016 Section 301. 		Unbundling under Rule 14a-4(a)(3) The SEC staff has published Compliance and Disclosure Interpretations on Rule 14a-4(a)(3). Section 101 addresses unbundling under Rule 14a-4(a)(3) generally. Section 201 addresses unbundling under Rule 14a-3(a)(3) in the M&A context. In general terms, multiple matters that are so “inextricably intertwined” as to effectively constitute a single matter need not be unbundled. An example given in the C&DI involves approval of a charter amendment containing two modifications of the terms of an outstanding series of preferred stock, one relating to the reduction of the dividend rate, and another relating to the extension of the maturity date. The staff would view the matters relating to the terms of the preferred stock as being inextricably intertwined, because each of the proposed provisions relates to a basic financial term of the same series of capital stock. The C&DI indicates, as an example, that the staff would not view two arguably separate matters as being inextricably intertwined merely because the matters were negotiated as part of a transaction with a third party. This document does not deal with proxy statements that relate to merger, acquisition and other business combination transactions, for which there are additional requirements and staff interpretations. Confirm that the proxy card complies with staff interpretive positions on Rule 14a-4(a)(3).			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

		Form and Content of Proxy Cards The proxy card must: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Indicate in bold-face type whether or not the proxy is solicited on behalf of the company’s board of directors; • Provide a specifically designated blank space for dating the proxy card; and • Identify clearly and impartially each separate matter intended to be acted upon, whether or not related to or conditioned on the approval of other matters, and whether proposed by the company or by security holders. There is SEC staff guidance on this requirement. The proxy card must provide a means for security holders to specify by boxes a choice between approval or disapproval of, or abstention with respect to each separate matter to be acted upon at the annual meeting, other than (1) elections to office and (2) say-on-pay and say-on-frequency votes on executive compensation. The proxy card may confer discretionary authority with respect to matters as to which a choice is not specified by the security holder if the proxy card states in bold-face type how it the proxies intend to vote the shares represented by the proxy for director elections and each matter to be acted upon.			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

		Requirements for proxy cards for director elections The proxy card must set forth the name of each person nominated for election as a director, including any person whose nomination by a shareholder or shareholder group satisfies the requirements of (1) an applicable state or foreign law provision or (2) the company’s governing documents as they relate to the inclusion of shareholder director nominees in the company’s proxy materials. Except as otherwise provided in Rule 14a-19, which is effective for annual meetings held on or after September 1, 2022, a proxy card that provides for the election of directors may provide a means for the security holder to grant authority to vote for the named nominees as a group, but only if the proxy card provides a similar means for the security holder to withhold authority to vote for such group of nominees. If applicable state law gives legal effect to votes cast against a nominee, then instead of providing a means to withhold authority to vote, the proxy card must provide a means for the security holder to vote against the nominees as a group and to abstain from voting for the nominees as a group. The proxy card cannot provide a means to grant authority to vote for any nominees as a group or to withhold authority for any nominees as a group or to vote against any nominees as a group if the proxy card includes one or more shareholder nominees in accordance with an applicable state or foreign law provision, or the company’s governing documents as they relate to the inclusion of shareholder director nominees in the company’s proxy materials. If the proxy card so states in bold-face type, a proxy card executed by the security holder shall be deemed to grant authority to vote for the election of any nominee if the proxy card does not withhold authority to vote for the election of any nominee or not to grant authority to vote against the election of any nominee.			Yes <input type="checkbox"/> No <input type="checkbox"/>

SUMMARY REQUIREMENTS FOR NOTICE OF INTERNET AVAILABILITY
(NOTICE AND ACCESS MODEL)

This document summarizes the requirements applicable to a Notice of Internet Availability under the notice and access model. Companies should consult their regular Goodwin Procter attorney for additional information concerning the contents of the Notice of Internet Availability.

Content of Notice. The Notice of Internet Availability must contain the following¹:

1. A prominent legend in bold-face type in exactly the following form:

Important Notice Regarding the Availability of Proxy Materials for the Shareholder Meeting to Be Held on [insert meeting date]

2. Address the topics below, which does not need to be in exactly the form(s) below:
 - A. This communication is not a form for voting and presents only an overview of the more complete proxy materials, which contain important information and are available to you on the Internet or by mail. We encourage you to access and review the proxy materials before voting.
 - B. The proxy materials are available at [insert website address]²
 - C. If you want to receive a paper or email copy of the proxy materials, you must request a copy as specified in the instructions below. If you do not, you will not otherwise receive a paper or email copy. There is no charge to you for requesting a copy. Please make your request for a copy as instructed below on or before [insert a date] to facilitate timely delivery.
 - D. The date, time, and location of the meeting, or if corporate action is to be taken by written consent, the earliest date on which the corporate action may be effected
 - E. A clear and impartial identification of each separate matter intended to be acted on and the soliciting person's recommendations, if any, regarding those matters, but no supporting statements
 - F. A list of the materials being made available at the specified website

A toll-free telephone number, an e-mail address, and an Internet website where the security holder can request a copy of the proxy statement, annual report to security holders, and form of proxy, relating to all of the company's future security holder meetings and for the particular meeting to which the proxy materials being furnished relate

Any control/identification numbers that the security holder needs to access his or her form of proxy³

Instructions on how to access the form of proxy, provided that such instructions do not enable a security holder to execute a proxy without having access to the proxy statement and, for annual meetings, the annual report to security holders

¹ The company must revise the information on the Notice of Internet Availability, including any title to the document, if the company is conducting a consent solicitation rather than a proxy solicitation or is not soliciting proxies or consents.

² The website address must be specific enough to lead stockholders directly to the proxy materials, rather than to the home page or other section of the website on which the proxy materials are posted, so that stockholders do not have to browse the website to find the materials. The website could be a central site with prominent links to each of the proxy-related disclosure documents listed in the Notice, as well as proxy materials posted on the website after the Notice is sent.

³ If householding is used for the Notices, then separate identification and control numbers for each account at the shared address must be provided.

Information on how to obtain directions to be able to attend the meeting and vote in person

The Notice of Internet Availability may also contain any additional information required to be included in a notice of stockholders meeting under state law and a statement to educate security holders that no personal information other than the identification or control number is necessary to execute a proxy.

In addition, the Notice of Internet Availability may contain an explanation of the reasons for the company's use of the SEC's electronic proxy solicitation rules and the process for the shareholders' receiving and reviewing the proxy materials and voting. The explanation cannot include any materials designed to persuade shareholders to vote in any particular manner, change the method or delivery or explain the basis for sending only a Notice of Internet Availability to shareholders.

SEC rules do not require the Notice of Internet Availability to directly mirror the form or content of the proxy card. The rules require only that the Notice of Internet Availability "identify each matter that will be considered at the meeting."

The design of the Notice of Internet Availability may include pictures, logos, or similar design elements so long as the design is not misleading and the required information is clear.

Distribution of Notice. The Notice of Internet Availability must be sent separately from other types of security holder communications and may not accompany any other document or materials, including the form of proxy, except that:

1. it may be accompanied with:
 - a. a pre-addressed, postage-paid reply card for requesting a copy of the proxy materials;
 - b. a copy of any notice of security holder meeting required under state law if that notice is not combined with the Notice of Internet Availability; and
 - c. an explanation of the reasons for the company's use of the SEC's electronic proxy solicitation rules and the process for the shareholders' receiving and reviewing the proxy materials and voting; and
2. at least ten days after the initial Notice of Internet Availability has been sent, the company may send a form of proxy to stockholders accompanied by a copy of the Notice of Internet Availability.

The Notice of Internet Availability must be sent at least 40 days prior to the meeting and the company must provide intermediaries with the information required to be included in the Notice of Internet Availability in sufficient time for the intermediaries to prepare, print and send their own Notices of Internet Availability at least 40 days prior to the meeting. A single copy of the Notice of Internet Availability may be sent to one or more stockholders sharing the same address if the relevant householding requirements have been satisfied (i.e., consent need not be resolicited to household the Notice of Internet Availability).

Plain English. The company must use plain English principles in the organization, language, and design of the Notice of Internet Availability, including using:

1. Short sentences;
2. Definite, concrete, everyday words;
3. Active voice;
4. Tabular presentation or bullet lists for complex material, whenever possible;
5. No legal jargon or highly technical business terms; and
6. No multiple negatives.

APPENDIX 2 SUMMARY REQUIREMENTS FOR NOTICE OF INTERNET AVAILABILITY (FULL SET DELIVERY MODEL)

This document summarizes the requirements applicable to a Notice of Internet Availability under the full set delivery model. Companies should consult their regular Goodwin Procter attorney for additional information concerning the contents of the Notice of Internet Availability.

Content. The following information must be either (1) included in a separate Notice of Internet Availability that is sent with the other proxy materials, in which case the Notice may not include any other information except as noted below, or (2) contained, collectively, in the proxy statement and form of proxy (which is the more common approach). If this information is contained in the proxy statement and the form of proxy, then a separate Notice of Internet Availability need not be sent. The following is the information required¹:

1. A prominent legend in bold-face type that states:

Important Notice Regarding the Availability of Proxy Materials for the Shareholder Meeting to Be Held on [insert meeting date]

2. Address the topics below, which do not need to be in exactly the form(s) below:

- A. The proxy materials are available at [insert website address]²
- B. The date, time, and location of the meeting, or if corporate action is to be taken by written consent, the earliest date on which the corporate action may be effected
- C. A clear and impartial identification of each separate matter intended to be acted on and the soliciting person's recommendations, if any, regarding those matters, but no supporting statements
- D. A list of the materials being made available at the specified website
- E. Any control/identification numbers that the security holder needs to access his or her form of proxy³
- F. Information on how to obtain directions to be able to attend the meeting and vote in person

If a separate Notice of Internet Availability is sent, it may also contain any additional information required to be included in a notice of stockholders meeting under state law and a statement to educate security holders that no personal information other than the identification or control number is necessary to execute a proxy.

The design of any separate Notice of Internet Availability may include pictures, logos, or similar design elements so long as the design is not misleading and the required information is clear.

¹ The company must revise the information on the Notice of Internet Availability, including any title to the document, if the company is conducting a consent solicitation rather than a proxy solicitation or is not soliciting proxies or consents.

² The website address must be specific enough to lead stockholders directly to the proxy materials, rather than to the home page or other section of the website on which the proxy materials are posted, so that stockholders do not have to browse the website to find the materials. The website could be a central site with prominent links to each of the proxy-related disclosure documents listed in the Notice, as well as proxy materials posted on the website after the Notice is sent.

³ If householding is used for the Notices, then separate identification and control numbers for each account at the shared address must be provided.
